09:00 Online check in – Time for online networking and opportunity to visit the virtual exhibition

Plenary session I – Mainstage/Venturestage

09:30 Welcome address and opening remarks* Dr Thomas Book, Executive Board, Deutsche Börse AG

10:00 Keynote speech: “Will inflation really calm down next year?”

Speaker: Dr Jörg Krämer, Chief Economist, Commerzbank	Supply bottlenecks and high energy prices are driving up inflation in the eurozone and the US. The consensus view is that inflation will calm down next year. But is this realistic given that material shortages may last longer and higher inflation may lead to higher wage settlements? And how will central banks and financial markets react to inflationary risks?

Plenary session III – Mainstage/Venturestage

09:00 Keynote speech: “Stagflation or a return to solid growth?”

Speaker: Dr Holger Schmieding Chief Economist, Berenberg	After a rapid economic rebound from the pandemic, severe supply shortages are raising prices and retarding growth. How persistent are the inflationary pressures? Can economic growth pick up momentum again in 2022 and beyond? And what does the looming removal of the extraordinary monetary stimulus mean for economies and markets in Germany, Europe and the US? The keynote will offer some tentative answers to these questions.
